Who counts?

There is going to be a census of the population in 2011, as there is every 10 years. The census will try to list all of the people who live in the country – but chances are there are many it won't include – such as the 'hidden homeless' and destitute asylum-seekers.

God's own son was born into poverty in a stable, in the year of a great census. Will this census recognise the exclusion many experience, or will it reflect just the world's material values – values of success, looks and celebrity?

Scripture tells us that in God's kingdom, "the least shall be the first". Does the way we live bear witness to this truth? Are we living in true solidarity with people who are poor, homeless and excluded?

Raise your voice and make sure that everyone is counted!

- Follow the Action Week prayer calendar online or in print
- Mark Homelessness Sunday (31 January) or Poverty Action Sunday (6 February) with a special church service
- Explore the theme with children and young people
- Raise funds for vital projects and campaigns

About the 2011 census

The census has important implications for policies and public education, housing and health. But many excluded people – such as those with multiple occupation, the hidden homeless and people without a fixed address – were undercounted in the last census.

Churches are often more in touch than statutory bodies and councils with people who are excluded and living on the margins. Churches can help ensure that those experiencing poverty and homelessness are included in the census and their voices are heard. Are we up to the task?
